Menu Inneros CEO and Editor-in-Chief, Daniel Escobar Daniel Escobar is the CEO and editor-in-chief of Inneros, the world’s leading women’s luxury magazine. He is also a world renowned luxury entrepreneur, an award-winning luxury marketing consultant, and the founder of Innerspace. How did you get into publishing? I had graduated with a degree in Sociology and was working for a small non-profit; I would’ve quit that job if I had known what I was getting into. In 2004, two years after graduation, I started a website design company. We were only doing website design. “So what?” you may ask. Well, it wasn’t enough. I realized that it would be more fun, more fulfilling, and more profitable if I could combine designing a website with marketing. This is when I started to get really interested in the marketing industry. I would go to all sorts of events, conferences, and how-to classes. I was lucky to meet a woman who used to be the Vice President of International Marketing of a huge company. After chatting with her for a few days, I was able to get a call with her. She helped me improve my business, and taught me the most important things about marketing. During my study, I attended the Mexico City ICAA Conference and met a few people from the publishing industry. I was impressed with the knowledge and professionalism they had, and of course, I was fascinated with the way that they made money. I thought it would be great to be able to combine my experience in web design with the knowledge I had learned in that ICAA conference. That’s when I decided to apply for the editorial position at Innerspace Magazine. I was hired in September 2005. This year’s issue is dedicated to Kim Kardashian. What has changed in the world of luxury marketing over the past year? Last year we covered a very hot topic: virtual reality. Virtual reality, from what I understand, is a new type of technology that allows us to interact in real time with things that we cannot physically interact with. Virtual reality is the next step in improving human interaction with the world. We’ve been using technology to improve human interaction for hundreds of years. In the last few years, we’ve seen virtual reality in the sphere of leisure.

1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to an electrical connector assembly, and more particularly to a cable assembly provided with shielded cable. 2. Description of the Prior Art U.S. Pat. No. 6,766,319 B2 discloses a cable assembly which comprises a cable including an insulative jacket; a plurality of wires received in the jacket; and a shielding braid wrapped around the jacket at the end. The cable assembly further comprises a first housing including a middle portion, and two side portions respectively disposed at two opposite ends of the middle portion, and two guiding slots respectively formed at two opposing sides of the middle portion. A pair of compressing members is mounted in the middle portion of the first housing. The compressing members are adapted to compress the middle portion of the first housing when the cable assembly is mounted in a second housing. The cable assembly has a large footprint and two opposite ends are fixed to the second housing. Therefore, a reliable electrical connection between the cable assembly and the second housing cannot be obtained. Hence, an improved cable assembly is required to overcome the disadvantages of the prior art.1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates generally to a communication system and a communication method, and more specifically to an OFDM (orthogonal frequency division multiplexing) communication system and a method for such a communication system. 2. Description of the Related Art An OFDM system has been standardized as, e.g., a Digital Multimedia Broadcasting (DMB) system. An OFDM system is one of the most promising broadband transmission systems and can be applied to the next generation communication systems such as Wireless Local Loop (WLL) and Inter Operability Radio Access Network (I-RAN), as well as the existing mobile communication system. An I-RAN system is one of next generation mobile communication systems for providing mobile telephone service to as many as 100 million people, and is standardized in 3GPP (3rd Generation Partnership Project). In a wideband I-RAN system, a cell having a cell radius of about 6 to 8 kilometers is covered by a base station. Each cell is divided into a plurality of sectors by 10 to 30 sectors for effective use of frequency resources. Each sector is covered with a sector antenna for transmitting and receiving radio signals to and from the base station located in the center thereof. In addition, a terminal and a satellite are used for radio communication in I-RAN. FIG.
